

MOHAMMED VI RETIRES

MRS. STILLMAN WINS VICTORY IN HER DIVORCE SUIT

Near East Situation So Complicated That It Is Impossible To Make Decisive Forecast Whether It Will Be Peace Or War

(By International News Service.)
Athens, Sept. 29.—"This is not a party movement but a national movement," said a statement issued to the press today by the Greek revolution committee. "It is the will of the nation being asserted. The nation will not die slothfully. The army is not to blame for the debacle. The dynastic situation must be settled in a way to conform with the will of the majority. The task of the revolutionary leaders will end when the directing of foreign affairs is entrusted to those best qualified to handle them and when normal conditions return and there is a general legislative election. In the meantime we shall work for the reinforcement of the Thracian front."

Constantinople, Sept. 29.—Revolution in Greece, abdication of King Constantine, determination of the Greek revolutionary committee to defend Thrace against the Turks, reported abdication of Sultan Mohammed VI, of Turkey and the stubborn attitude of the Turkish Nationalists who continue to occupy the neutral zone on the Straits, have complicated the Near East situation so dangerously that it was impossible today to make a decisive forecast of peace or war.

Allied pacification missions have departed from Rodosto, Adrianople and Lule Burgaz, in Thrace.

Sultan Abdicated.

Mohammed VI was said to have abdicated in favor of his cousin Prince Abdul Medjid Effendi, the heir apparent. The Sultan is sick and in seclusion.

The Kemalists have occupied nearly all the neutral zones and have the British at Chanak surrounded on three sides. In some places the Turks advanced with white flags to prevent the British from firing upon them. It was reported that shots had been exchanged on Thursday but this is not officially confirmed.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha is believed to have departed from Smyrna for Ankara to confer with members of the national assembly.

Kemal Replies.

A report was current at the same time to the effect that Kemal has drafted a reply to the Allied note of last Sunday and will ask the assembly to approve it. This communication is said to demand the right to occupy strategic points in Thrace; also,

1.—Cessation of British reinforcements.

2.—Occupation of all eastern Thrace by the Turks before the Near East peace conference.

3.—Demilitarization of the Sea of Marmora.

4.—Russian participation in the preliminary armistice conference.

Henri Franklin-Bouillon, peace emissary of France, England and Italy, after a conference with the Allied high commissioners, will notify Kemal that he believes all misunderstandings could be cleared up by an immediate conference between Kemal and Sir Charles Harrington, British commander-in-chief.

Revision of the boundaries of the neutral zone surrounding the Turkish Straits, is possible.

Turkish cavalry that occupied Erenkeul, near the western end of the Dardanelles, has been withdrawn a few miles.

Whereabouts Uncertain.

Conflicting advices were received here as to the whereabouts of Mustapha Kemal Pasha. One said he was going to Ankara; another said he was on his way northward from Smyrna, possibly coming to Constantinople to confer with General Sir Charles Harrington, the British commander. It is understood that Yusef Kemal and not Kemal Pasha is enroute from Smyrna to discuss peace terms.

Reports that troops stationed at Tehal, north of Constantinople, have been recalled to the European bank of the Bosphorus were unfounded.

It is reported that Venizelos might arrive in Athens from Paris Saturday or Sunday.

Constantine is said to have departed from Athens immediately after George took the royal oath. Tino witnessed the ceremony.

Washington, Sept. 29.—A beneficent "practical moral effect" of the state of mind of the Kemalists will be the immediate result of the arrival at Constantinople of the twelve American destroyers ordered there by Secretary of the Navy Denby, officials of the Greek legation declared today.

Situation Uncertain

With the Near East situation in a state described as "uncertain as a cloud of smoke," the prospect of

$2,500 IN FREE VAUDEVILLE ACTS NEXT WEEK DURING THE MARTINSBURG FAIR AT ROSEMONT PARK; DAY AND NIGHT FEATURES

Management Of Non-Stock, Non-Profit Sharing Association Has Gone To Great Expense—Many Entries Expected In All Departments—Only 25 Cents Admission At Gates.

The Martinsburg Fair Grounds, Rosemont Park and the adjoining land, has taken on a bustle and bustle the last few days, and the force of men under the direction of Secretary Gustafson, of the Chamber of Commerce, and County Agent Degen, who have charge of all exhibitions and concessions, are working zealously to have all in readiness for the opening of the bigger and better fair.

Already many of the large tents, which will house the county exhibits, as well as many of the commercial exhibit tents, have been erected. The bath houses have been converted into exhibit rooms; the balcony over the bath houses likewise has been made into display rooms; electric light poles and wires are being erected and strung the water has been withdrawn from the pool; the high poles to carry some of the free exhibitions have been placed; extra drinking fountains are being installed; and many other things arranged. The few days remaining before the fair opens will be exceedingly busy ones for the promoters of the undertaking.

Just here it is emphasized that the fair, while being incorporated, is a non-stock, non-profit organization, and the men promoting the same are only imbued with the spirit and determination to give Martinsburg a fair similar to those in other cities and towns in this vicinity. These men ask, and should be accorded the proper encouragement, support, and attendance at the fair, by each and every citizen in Berkeley county.

These men have gone to considerable trouble and a vast expense to put the fair over on a big scale this year, and the public should get behind them. They are greatly encouraged from the space taken by commercial exhibitors, the entire space allotted them being about taken up by those eager to be on the grounds. There is yet room for a few more, but late comers will be at a disadvantage, due to the inability to house them.

At an expense of $2,500 in free acts for the public, the management aims and is determined to give their patrons real value for the small gate admission charged. The free acts will consist of an aerial circus, produced on a large scale, all supreme acts in their line. Chief among these are the Aerial Howards, in a sensational and death-defying act, a bicycle and trapeze performance, Mrs. Howard is the only lady in the world riding a bicycle on a high wire. Prince Nelson, another high wire performance, is well worth traveling miles to see. The high diving act is a wonderful feat, the balloon ascension, with parachute drop, aeroplane flights, and thrilling stunts. Wonderful fireworks at night, an added feature. These free acts take place day and night. The patrons of the fair are assured that these acts will far surpass any similar attractions given at other fairs at which an additional grand stand admission is charged. When the small gate admission is noted, 25 cents for adults, and 15 cents for children over 7 years, record crowds should be in attendance daily and nightly.

The officers and board of directors who have been busily at work, will have an important meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms tonight at 7:30 to make final arrangements for the week's doing. Get ready to spend a gala week. Lay aside your cares and duties. Have your friends come and visit you, likewise your relatives. Make this week an educational one long to be remembered.

HAMBURGER'S SPECIALTY SHOP OPENED TODAY

Hamburger's Specialty Shop, Martinsburg's newest women's and misses' ready-to-wear store, owned and operated by Hamburger's Cloth and Suit House, of Baltimore, Md., was opened today for business in the Dean Building, 151 North Queen street. The new store, under the management of Mr. Louis Hamburger and a corps of efficient clerks, was beautifully decorated with palms and other decorations for the opening event and attracted quite a number of shoppers and visitors. The large display of women's and misses' suits, coats, dresses, skirts, millinery and other wearing apparel is beautifully arranged and the fetching manner in which it is shown is winning many pleasing comments from feminine shoppers.

The same firm operates stores in Frederick and Winchester, and in the near future will open another store in Salisbury, Md.

CONSTANTINE AND QUEEN DISAPPEAR ON BOARD WARSHIP

Temporary Triumvirate Meeting Almost Constantly.

(By International News Service.)
Athens, Sept. 29.—Constantine, abdicated King of Greece, former Queen Sophie, Prince Nicholas and Prince Andrew were secretly taken on board a warship and have departed for some unknown destination, it was reliably reported today.

The temporary revolutionary triumvirate composed of Colonel Gonatas, Colonel Plastiras and Captain Phocas are meeting almost constantly discussing plans for the military defense of Thrace against the Turks and the recall of former Premier Venizelos.

Political circles believe that the reign of King George will be brief and that a republic will be established. Revolutionary leaders are in communication with Venizelos in France. The former Premier may be the Greek President if the revolutionary faction is successful.

Reports are current that three former ministers have been arrested: Gounaris, Stratos and Protapadakis.

Constantine's ministers are keeping out of sight. On the other hand the leaders of the revolution are getting the heartiest reception whenever they appear in public. They are continually pelted with flowers.

Revolutionary troops are patrolling the streets. The city is calm. Constantine's future place of exile is not definitely known but it has been suggested that he may occupy the former German Kaiser's castle at Corfu. Constantine married the ex-Kaiser's sister.

Venizelos may be made sort of Greek Ambassador at Paris before his return. Leaders of the revolution wish Venizelos to establish Greece in the same position she occupied in the good graces of the Allies before Constantine was recalled and Venizelos was sent into exile two years ago.

Efforts are under way to form a new ministry. This task was entrusted to General Nider, but he refused it. Later Alexandre Carpanos was asked to attempt the formation of a cabinet. He conferred with liberal leaders but was not confident he would succeed.

Police Search For Occupants Of Deserted Car

(By International News Service.)

Chester, Pa., Sept. 29.—Police today are searching for a party in an automobile that abandoned a stolen car near Chester Heights yesterday under strange circumstances.

The deserted car was found to belong to Dr. John A. Stella, of Yonkers, N. Y. In the tonneau were found a bottle of chloroform, the torn sleeve of a man's coat and a grey cap with a Yonkers label.

Foul play is seen in the transfer of a long box, large enough to have contained a body, to a smaller machine in which two men and a well-dressed young woman escaped, after being pursued by Chief of Police Cooper. The chief was summoned to the scene by Mrs. J. Denny Moore, wife of a farmer nearby. So far no trace has been found of the small car in which the unknown persons fled.

LATE BLAZE BURNS OUT MEAT MARKET OF G. FELTY, NORTH QUEEN STREET, THURSDAY NIGHT

Fire of undetermined origin last night practically wiped out the meat market of G. Felty, 216 North Queen street, for what the fire and smoke did not damage was pretty badly affected by the great volume of water thrown by the firemen who had a stiff battle with the flames before the blaze could be extinguished. Mr. Felty's place of business in the little one story frame affair that stands at the northeast corner of the Blondel lot represented an investment to him of $2,000 or more and the insurance is not large. This was carried with H. L. Alexander and had been transferred to Mr. Felty when he bought out W. R. Kline, who operated the stand for many years. Since purchasing the market Mr. Felty had spent quite a sum on a new front and had worked up a good business.

In the absence of definite information the only cause that can be assigned for the fire is that it originated from old electric wires in the upper part of the building, between the ceiling and the roof. This rendered it a difficult blaze to combat and the firemen who responded at once were forced to chop through the building in order to play water on the flames. The conflagration was discovered by a young man named Glasford along about 11 o'clock. Before it was gotten under control the smoke covered the city and the odor of burning meat was discernible at a considerable distance.

Carmel, N. Y., Sept. 29.—James A. Stillman, former multi-millionaire head of the National City Bank lost his suit for divorce against his wife, Mrs. Anne Urquhart Stillman when the referee, Daniel Gleason, handed down a decree holding Stillman guilty of misconduct with a woman and clears Mrs. Stillman of the charges filed against her.

Little Guy Is Stillman's Son

The decision upholds the legitimacy of Mrs. Stillman's little son, Guy, which had been attacked by James A. Stillman.

The banker had alleged that Fred Beauvais, Canadian guide, whom he named as co-respondent, was the father of little Guy.

Stillman Himself Guilty

That testimony had established guilty relations between Stillman and Mrs. Florence H. Leeds, former chorus girl, upon Stillman's private yacht "Modesty" and at various places in New York and Florida between 1917 and 1921.

No mention of alimony was made in the findings.

Mrs. Stillman was not present. It was understood she is motoring in New England. Counsel representing Mrs. Stillman and her friends were jubilant. They said her sweeping victory had decisively cleared her of all the charges her husband made against her.

The decision was brought from Poughkeepsie to Carmel at 10 o'clock and filed with County Clerk Edward S. Agor.

Charges Improper Conduct

In his complaint, the banker had charged his wife with improper conduct with Beauvais at numerous places in the Province of Quebec, Canada, where he maintained a summer camp; at a hotel in Montreal; at Grand Piles, Grand Anse and other places, including the Stillman country estate at Pocantico Hills, N. Y., near the estate of John D. Rockefeller.

The referee said Mrs. Stillman was not guilty of any of these charges.

Letters Forgeries

The plaintiff had introduced letters, which, he claimed, had been written by Beauvais to Mrs. Stillman. Mrs. Stillman disclaimed these communications saying they were forgeries.

Daniel J. Gleason, referee in the divorce action brought by James A. Stillman, multi-millionaire banker, against his wife, Mrs. Anne Urquhart Stillman today, filed his report rejecting the banker's contentions. Mr. Stillman had denied the legitimacy of Mrs. Stillman's little son Guy, while asking a divorce.

The decision was a sweeping victory for Mrs. Stillman, exonerating her of any misconduct with Fred Beauvais, Canadian guide, whom the banker had named as co-respondent.

At the same time, the referee said that the evidence showed that the plaintiff had been guilty of misconduct with a woman known as Florence Leeds and whom Mrs. Stillman had named in her counter action.

The illicit relations between Stillman and Mrs. Leeds, were said to have taken place at various places in New York State and Florida between October, 1917 and January, 1921.

The Finding

"That the defendant, Anne Stillman, did not commit adultery with one Frederick R. Beauvais and has not since the first day of May, 1917, been living or lived in adulterous intercourse with him at Grand Anse, on the St. Maurice river, Province of Quebec, Dominion of Canada, or at other places along and in the neighborhood of the St. Maurice river in the Province of Quebec, Dominion of Canada, or at hotels in the cities of Montreal, Province of Quebec, Dominion of Canada, or at the home of the plaintiff and defendant, Anne U.
